VERY LATEST NEWS.

General News

NEW YORK, June 7.

The steamships City of Baltimore from Liverpool, and the City of Mexico, from Vera Cruz have arrived.

At the monthly meeting of the Knyvett Alumni Association yesterday Archbishop McCloskey delivered an interesting address. He warned the young men against secret societies and especially Free Masons, and said he was astonished at hearing a learned gentleman of another faith express his belief that the Catholic Church could be so zealous in her prohibition of Free Masonry as Archbishop Hughes, several eminent priests, and even Pope Pius IX were Free Masons.

Three frame buildings, Nos. 101, 103, Fulton street, Brooklyn, were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $16,000.

During a fight in the Twenty First Ward yesterday, between John Bennett and James Brady and James Lynch, Bennett stabbed both his antagonists, Brady's wounds are mortal.

The report of the Deputy Commissioner of Revenue shows that in the October, November and December 1868, 10 per cent of our imports, 4 ½ per cent of our domestic exports, and 90 per cent of our manufacturing exports have been transported in foreign vessels.

The both Ericsson and Bronx, from Havana, put into this port in distress, each crew having been attacked by yellow fever.

It has been ascertained that Geo. B. Hastings, Secretary and Treasurer of the Hartford Trust Company embezzled over $20,000 of funds of the Tolland County Bank, which cashier of that institution. He has been made good to his Cashier. Hastings is a Sunday school teacher, has a position in the Trust Company.

It is reported that a commission will be sent to the Red River post to arrange with the Governor of the Territory being appointed.

The Post says there is a report, through a private channel, this afternoon, to the effect that Fort Cabeza Prieta has been surrendered to Gomez Valmaseda, Rivera and Burgess, and that quite a number of Rebels. This information comes from Spanish sympathizers, and is addressed to persons in this city.

The Sonora has left Havana with 500 men on board, including Col. Wm. Henderson, of Cuban fame, sailed from the port Saturday morning, and the leading officers under Garcia.

Promulgation of the New Constitution

MADRID, June 7.

The new Constitution was promulgated yesterday with most imposing ceremonies. Members of the Executive Cabinet, deputies to the Cortes, generals of the army and navy, and a great multitude of persons were present. The ceremony took place in the Hall of Congress. The President of the Cortes read the Constitution. It was received with loud cheers by the assembly and by the crowd in the galleries. Marshal Prim, President of the Council of Ministers, then read a decree for the promulgation of the Constitution. On reaching the clause in the decree which recognizes the support and property of Catholic Church, Prim was interrupted by a long and enthusiastic cheer. When the decree was finished, the President of the Cortes read the oath to be taken by the Regent, Marshal Serrano, Prim, and the members of the Provisional Government. The Regent, Marshal Serrano, then read the oath to be taken by the members of the Cortes. The President of the Cortes read the Constitution. The Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, June 7.

The Liberal journals deplore the course adopted by the Conservative Peers in respect to the Irish Church bill. The Times predicts if this policy of rejection is carried out, the result will be that the House of Lords will be obliged to accept the same bill at a later period, with a sense of humiliation. The bill must pass. The nation, by the voice of the House of Commons, has so pronounced, and it cannot recede.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY HERALD,
TITUSVILLE, June 7, 1869.

The Petroleum market was strong and greatly excited at the opening this morning. The sales of crude to buy were at $5.25 at the opening at the creek, but under a large demand and light offerings prices advanced to $5.50 at all points. Subsequently there were sales made on the creek south of Hyde at $5.[illegible] and $5.[illegible], and at $5.15 and $5.20 on broad gauge from Oil City. These were the highest prices reached during the day, and a considerable amount changed hands at them. About noon an active and vigorous "bear" movement was commenced, and the market closed at lower prices, the decline being largely. Below two dollars prices, but on account of a very decided break in New York, and the market on the creek became flat and weak. Toward the close there were sellers at any position on the creek at $5.25, but there were no buyers, and prices closed nominal. During the day 5,000 bbls were sold at Titusville, at auction, at prices ranging at $5.15 [illegible] 42 gallons on the cars. The sales and transactions amounted about 21,500 barrels and included about 10,000 [illegible] New York, 6,000 on speculation and [illegible] trade.

Our Oil Report for May will be republished in to-morrow's HERALD.

—The Harrisburg Legislature on Thursday voted to postpone their adjournment from the 10th to Monday next.

A service for [illegible] was experienced in this section on Sunday night, which was [illegible] to early vegetation. The [illegible] extensively.

—The returns of the Republican majorities in Venango county indicate the election of Brockett to Senator, Mollenhauer to Assembly, Grant for Treasurer, Scroggs for Commissioner and Crawford for Prothonotary. Brockett's majority for Senator is somewhat larger than we shall publish the official returns when received.

—Tom Marshall, though not a candidate, is a good personal [illegible] and goes to Grant, for the place. He was throughout the Rogers Bean Convention in Allegheny county. The only members that were renominated for Legislature, are those who adhered to Mr. [illegible] the Senatorial contest to wire [illegible] that "Sunderland only" should go to the Grant Convention.

—On Saturday [illegible] Mr. Spencer was [illegible] the charge of loading and attempting to [illegible] Mr. G. W. Harland, [illegible] the last weeks of Rail [illegible] in the year 1865. Spencer [illegible] at the time [illegible] the accident on Mr. Harland's place, and had been working [illegible] various farms on the creek. When he was released he had just served a term in the [illegible] imprisonment in jail at Fredonia.

—About six o'clock last evening [illegible] James Smith, who was on a drunk, [illegible] his wife [illegible] with his old friend Clark in Gelb & Kinsel's saloon on Spring street, when [illegible] interfered and [illegible] into the street. Officer [illegible] arrested Smith and [illegible] to the lockup. Smith did not want to go there, and when the officer [illegible] Smith [illegible] the officer [illegible] his head, which he [illegible] ing.

—Street Improvements.—Supt. Brown is doing a good work on our streets. Brick [illegible] is undergoing [illegible] from the [illegible] Frank street to the corner on Spring street, east of Franklin, in a few weeks will be passable for teams, the only crossing now being a foot bridge. The racing water from the rice are no longer to be suffered to spread over the street and adjoining lots, the will be drained in, and the bed of the stream walled [illegible] the road. There will [illegible] passing [illegible] age, but that will be a small expense [illegible] the size of the lots to be filled in.

—Schofield & Co's Livery stable [illegible] who wish to take a [illegible] Schofield & Co. keep [illegible] horses. The carriages are easy of access, being directly in the rear of the Corbin House, and at the east extremity of Diamond street. They have a number of fine horses, for saddle or harness, single or double, with carriages to match. As the roads are drying up, there will be a considerable increase in pleasure riding in the summer season. A good house of entertainment, a few miles from Titusville, would in any [illegible] if managed in liberal style, be well patronized the year round.

The Election Returns in Pleasantville Borough.—Assembly—W. L. Loy, 118; J. P. McJunkin, 224; Wm. Gates, 16; J. A. Cherry, 286.

Treasurer—G. W. Brayham, 63; W. Brady, 10; J. R. Grant, 8; A. Bowman, 2.

Prothonotary—E. G. Crawford, 210; J. H. Smith, 65.

Senate—J. A. Bredin, 247; A. P. Duncan, 84.

County Commissioner—J. Y. Scoggins, 271; J. P. Riddle, 19; N. P. Hixon, 1.

Register and Recorder—J. M. Shaw, 190.

Auditor—Alonzo Foor, 155.

Hon. M. C. Beebe was unanimously elected member County Committee.

The Strawberry Festival at Corinthian Hall Thursday evening promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season, and we have no doubt but the hall will be crammed by those who are willing to give to a benevolent object, and at the same time indulge in that greatest luxury of the season, strawberries and cream. Just think of the sport in having a pretty waitress feed you a strawberry smothered in genuine cream out of a silver spoon, while she seems to say if you flinch "I will smother you with these." Next, to facing a charming face containing the hues and freshness of every fruit and flower that grows, there is nothing like being smothered to death with strawberries and cream. If you doubt it attend Thursday evening and be convinced.

Important Meeting of New York Ladies

—Woman's Education.

Whatever interests women is or ought to be interesting to not only half and "the better half" of mankind, but to the whole unit of humanity. And the Slavery question having got its quietus by force of law, the next question is the Woman question. It already has its Metropolitan organ, the Revolution and its platform orator, in Miss Dickinson. It holds conventions. It interrogates public men. It besieges the doors of legislation, and it is fermenting constantly in the public mind. Everybody admits that something is wrong somewhere. Woman is too dependent in her condition; too cramped in her opportunities; too much of a drudge in the household, too much of a doll in the drawing-room, too much of a victim of the avaricious, or the passions of men, too little protected by law, and too heavily overborne by what has all the force of law, social custom. Some champions of the sex clamor for the ballot as the sovereign cure for all their ills. They say they are as much entitled to exercise the elective franchise as the negro. But the cases are scarcely analogous. The black man needed the ballot as the guaranty and bulwark of his new liberty. As a slave, he had not the right to acquire, hold or transmit property. Woman, on the other hand, can acquire and appropriate to herself her own earnings. The slave could have his marriage relation rudely severed without redress. The woman can marry the man of her choice, and [illegible] but their own voluntary acts can part her husband. Woman is not a chattel, but a person, with a legal individuality [illegible] rights and liabilities. Her trouble is not so much the ballot. In the sphere of manners and morals she is still a power and supreme, and only in the domain of politics, or in what relates to the material interests of the community, is she not [illegible] to men. And solution [illegible] such a nudge [illegible] to the position of her sex. It is proposed to relieve her from the drudgery of [illegible] the burden of responsibility which she [illegible] happy and grateful to [illegible]. But it appears [illegible] the public, that they do not [illegible] what is at the bottom of [illegible] woman.

[illegible]

Marshall Leopold O'Donnell.

The sudden death of General O'Donnell, from apoplexy, while engaged in discussion in the Spanish Cortes, is announced by a cable telegram from Madrid. The deceased was a native of Santa Cruz de Teneriffe, Canary Island, and was born on the 12th of January, 1807. His father was a prominent officer of the Spanish army, into the service of which he entered at an early age, and before he had attained his twenty-fifth year was commissioned a Colonel. During the Carlist war in Spain he espoused the cause of Queen Isabella, fought with great courage and displayed such skill and ability that in 1838 he was appointed chief of staff and placed in command of the army of the Centre. After the war was over he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier General and created Count of Lucena. In 1839 he supported the cause of the Queen-mother Christina, and was compelled to take refuge with her in France, but during the following year was allowed to return to Spain, upon giving in his adhesion to the existing government. No sooner had he returned than he organized a formidable insurrection against the regent, and, upon its failure, once more fled to France. Here he participated in the intrigues against Espartero, and upon the fall of that Minister in 1843, once more went to Spain, and was awarded for his services by being appointed Captain General of Cuba. Narvaez was in power when he returned, and by him O'Donnell was appointed Minister of War and the Colonies, and President of the Council, which positions he held until Spain declared war against Moroco, when he was placed in command of the army which invaded that country. His success was brilliant and won for him the title of the Duke of Tetuan, in addition to more substantial rewards. In 1863 the Marshal resigned his political offices because the Queen refused to dissolve the Chamber. Two years later he returned to power at the head of a new Ministry, but within a few months was replaced by Narvaez. Marshal O'Donnell was one of the many Spanish officers of great abilities, whose love of revolution has placed Spain in her present position. Politically he was everything by turns, and for some time before the last revolution sided with those opposed to the rule of the ex Queen Isabella.

The Presbyterian Church.

The action of the Presbyterian General Assemblies renders it almost certain that a union of the old and new school bodies will take place. Together the denomination will be an exceedingly powerful one, as the following statistics for 1868 will show:

	O. S.	N. S.
Synods	21	27
Presbyteries	142	111
Ministers	2,830	1,800
Licentiates	229	131
Churches	526	235
Members added	42	57
Communicants	2,557	1,59[illegible]
Sabbath Schools	27,625	16[illegible]
Colored Members	19,4[illegible]	1[illegible]
Ministers of other denominations	8,[illegible]	[illegible]
Non-church Sunday Scholars	2,1[illegible]	18[illegible]
Finance
Total contributions	$4,888,596	$2,[illegible]
Benevolent Contributions	2,49,074	2,441,0[illegible]
Foreign Missions	28[illegible]	1[illegible]
Home Missions	43,100	1[illegible]

In the course of time, we presume, other branches of the Presbyterian family will unite with the main body. Their strength is given as follows: The United Presbyterian Church comprises seven synods, fifty presbyteries and about 700 ministers, and 65,312 communicants. The Southern Presbyterian assembly has ten synods, sixty-eight presbyteries, 786 ministers, fifty one licentiates, thirty two candidates, 1,298 churches and 75,923 communicants. The Cumberland Presbyterian Church has twenty four synods, one hundred presbyteries, 1,500 ministers and 131,031 communicants. The Reformed Presbyterian Synod has sixty seven ministers and 8,487 communicants. The Associate Synod has twelve ministers and 1,091 communicants. Besides these there are other small Presbyterian bodies. It is not improbable that, in time, the Dutch Reformed and German Reformed bodies, which are in close sympathy with the old and new school presbyterians, and which differs only in church government, may become a part of the union.

Licenses of Tobacco Dealers and Peddlers.

The following letter from the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue was recently received by Assessor Woodruff, of Baltimore:

"Treasury Department,
Office of Internal Revenue,
Washington, May 6, 1869.

"Sir: In your letter of May 3, you ask the following question: 'Are persons traveling from place to place, selling cigars by sample, required to take out a license for such business, or rents in tobacco?'

"In answer I have to say that a dealer in tobacco is a person who sells manufactured tobacco, snuff, or cigars. A person, therefore, who sells tobacco in the leaf, or offers for sale cigars to be delivered at a distant place, and at his own risk, does not exceed $100 is liable to a special tax as such.

"A peddler is a person who carries from place to place selling goods; a person, therefore, who peddles cigars is not only a dealer in tobacco, but also a peddler, and is consequently liable to the special taxes imposed upon both. A person, however, who is simply the agent of a manufacturer or dealer, and who travels as such, taking with him samples of cigars, which he does not sell, but upon which he solicits orders for his employer, from whom he receives a stipulated salary, is not regarded as a peddler or dealer in tobacco.

"Very respectfully,
"J. M. Douglass,
"Deputy Commissioner."

State Sunday Schools.—At the State Sunday School Convention, just adjourned at Williamsport, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That not less than $10,000 are necessary in order that the Penn State Sunday School Associations may be able to work with efficiency during the present year.

Resolved, That an apportionment be made among the counties of the State at the rate of two cents for every five inhabitants.

Resolved, That the business committee be directed to arrange with county associations or individuals in the several counties for the pledges and collections of the amounts apportioned to them.

Resolved, That Sabbath Schools and associations be invited to constitute Pastors, Superintendents and Teachers life members by the payment of $20.00, and thus aid in making the association more efficient in its operations and usefulness.

School Matters.—It will be seen that the School Directors propose to build an addition to the Public School House, and advertise for proposals. It is intended to erect the extension on the rear end of the present building, the dimensions to be forty by sixty-six feet, the height two stories, to contain four rooms, without basement, the general finish to be the same as the present building. It is expected that the proposed addition will be ready for occupation by the fall term and it is designed to accommodate two hundred and fifty pupils. The capacity of the present school rooms has been overtaxed for the whole past year, all of the departments are crowded to repletion, notwithstanding a branch school is maintained by the Board for Juvenile scholars. The contemplated cost is something near $3,000 about one third of the original cost of the whole building. The summer vacation of the school will open next Thursday to continue at least six weeks.

Lost—One Pearl Sleeve Button with letter "B," and one Gold Boston Stud, red stone. The finder will be rewarded by leaving them at the Herald office.

The latest thing out is the One Dollar Goods at Esler's Variety Store.

The National Peace Jubilee at Boston.

The contractors for the erection of the Coliseum at Boston are more than up to time in their work, and everything about the mammoth structure is rapidly advancing toward completion. All the men who can work to advantage are employed in or upon the building, and the incessant hum of industry makes pleasant music to the listener. The outside is being finished plainly, yet neatly. The eves are bracketed, and the windows have large projecting caps and sills, supported by brackets. There are also pilasters around the whole building, at distances of about twenty five feet. The outside walls will be painted a neutral tint, to relieve them of the glare of newness, and battened. The work of covering the roof with tarred felting and cement is completed. The painters will commence their labors within a few days. A great part of the gas fixtures are already in place, and workmen are engaged in putting up the decoration.

The city authorities have lent their full aid and co-operation to the Building Committee, in order to forward the enterprise, and have taken every means in their power to contribute to the safety, comfort and convenience of those who may attend the Jubilee. Outside the Coliseum they have arranged to place thirty large street lamps. We have previously spoken of the introduction of Cochituate water. The drinking fountain just south of St. James avenue entrance is in daily use. Toward the rear of the parquet a hydrant has been placed, and one of the city horse carriages will be kept under the north hackery, in a convenient locality, for use in case of need. The aisles are to be so wide that the hose carriage can be run through them to any part of the building easily without removing any of the seats. In addition to these precautions, a steam fire engine and a full corps of attendant firemen are to be kept in the Coliseum the whole of the time during the Jubilee. A convenient called room, opening on Dartmouth street, has been set apart for the purpose, and Chief Engineer Damrell has in person superintended the arrangements therefor.

In the detailed description of the Coliseum it was mentioned that ten or a dozen large rooms were being finished off under the rear part of the balconies. The Building Committee have added several large rooms to the number originally fixed upon. One of the number, a large apartment some fifty feet wide and one hundred and fifty feet long, is intended for the press headquarters and telegraph office. It is situated at the left of the St. Jam s avenue entrance, the very best location in the whole building for the purpose.

There will be four ticket offices, two at the north or front end, and one on each side of the building. One of these will probably be opened for the sale of tickets in the course of a few days.

While everything is going on so satisfactorily about the Coliseum, it is gratifying to know that Mr. Gilmore is pushing forward the musical preparations with equal alacrity, and that everything in that department is in the same advanced state. The Handel and Haydn Society begin their rehearsals for the Jubilee choruses on Sunday evening. As they are familiar with the music for the most part, having sung much of it in public performances during the past season, they will require fewer rehearsals than the other singers.

The rehearsals of the societies outside of Boston are going on with the same regularity as those of the Boston singers, and, it would appear, with the same excellent results. Combined rehearsals of several neighboring societies have been already held in different localities, and others are to follow.

The sale of tickets is proceeding at Music Hall, and there is a very active demand for them, both on the part of citizens and from abroad.

New Counterfeits.—The following new counterfeits are noticed by Thompson's Bank Note Reporter:

10s, on the U. S. treasury notes (green backs). Imitation. Second issue. Has upper right border 14 small Xs and 16 Xs on left. The genuine has 15 Xs on right and left of engraver's name. The portrait of Lincoln on left end is not well engraved.

10s, on the Mutual National Bank, Troy, N. Y. Imitation. Engraving well executed. The tip of the eagle's wing passes over the lower portion of the figures 65 in the date, and there is no period after 5. The red seal is very imperfect. There are 16 white spaces and 17 parallel black lines which form the ground work on which is the word Troy. In the genuine there are 15 white spaces and 16 black lines. The signatures are poorly done. Letter A, dated May 10th.

10s, on the First National Bank, Red Hook, N. Y. Imitation. Well executed and likely to deceive.

2s, on the Tremont National Bank, Boston, Mass. Imitation. Engraving well executed and likely to deceive.

2s, on the Sixth National Bank of Philadelphia, Pa. Imitation. The engraving is scratchy.

2s, on the St. Nicholas National Bank, New York city. Imitation. Engraving well executed and likely to deceive many.

PATENT SAFETY POWDER.

IMPORTANT TO
Engineers and Contractors

We would call attention to the following testimonials

Boston, Oct 7, 1867.

Gen. J. G. Foster U S A—Sir My press agent with the Patent Powder was remarkable, considering it is blasting Corwin Rock, as I am confident with any other powder can I accomplish the work without great loss of time and large sum of cost.

Your obedient servant,
GEO W TOWNSEND
Submarine Engineer

Boston, Oct 10, 1867

Dear Sir I enclose to you a communication received from Mr Geo. W. Townsend in reply to the merits of The Patent Powder I talked with Mr Townsend that for submarine blasting that it has been powder we have yet tried, and I would recommend its use under similar circumstances

Very respectfully, your obt servt,
J G FOSTER
Pr. Maj Gen'l U S A.

The merits of this Powder are

1st. Its power far exceeds the best Gunpowder, and will therefore save a large percentage in the cost of labor

2d. Its perfect safety in handling, storing and transportation, as it will only explode when ignited by a fuse and with usual tamping, or the absence of tamping necessary to produce explosion

3d. Explosion generates little or no smoke, and the odor is entirely inoffensive

4th Water may be substituted for the usual tamping

5th Dampness does not deteriorate it

Dartmouth Place Greenwich England

From W Tatham, Esq Submarine Engineer to the Lords of the Admiralty, to Messrs Bickford Smith & Co

Dartmouth Place Greenwich

Dear Sir I have tried your Powder in my charge of about 150 lbs each for submarine Works (both to deep and shallow water) in the Thames at this Harbor, and am happy to state that your powder has been most satisfactory. The Powder is much stronger than Gunpowder. I shall have pleasure in recommending it for submarine blasting operations, as it is free from danger in being fired with safety.

I am, dear Sir,
(Signed) W TATHAM
Submarine Engineer to the Lords of the Admiralty

Strasburg Brothers, No 227 Chestnut st Philadelphia, Oct 24 1868

W. H. Jackson, Esq., President Orient Powder Co

Dear Sir I have used your Patent Explosive Compound introduced to me by young Mr Frank Mathers in the Tunnel Rock we find it a very destructive agent. We have tested it in all ways.

About three weeks ago, in the presence of several gentlemen, we exploded a hole 7 inches in diameter 6 feet deep, using from eight to ten inches in length of the compound (in accordance with the rules of the Hercules Powder Co.) which we have shipped us by you, we have at times where we should have used one hundred cases of Blasting Powder. Our Foremen inform me they much prefer this compound on account of its safety.

Its destructive force is such it saves drilling a foot one hole in five. We think by what we have seen to be effects there is a great saving above Gunpowder

Yours truly, GEORGE S BARNES
Contractor of the Baltimore Central Railroad

W. H. Jackson Esq, President Orient Powder Co 166 State Street, Boston

Dear Sir We have given your new Blasting Compound a very thorough trial in our work on Bowery Avenue, between 140th and 142d Streets, and find it to adapt which you claim for it, viz., safety in handling and superior strength

In wet and block holes and also in the solid rock for rail road cuttings, we find it saving at gain would be made over ordinary powder

Respectfully yours,
J P SULLIVAN,
H HERDE
Contractors Central Park, New York

The undersigned having used the Original Patent Safety Powder in blasting rock, we find, on full trial, the statements made by the Inventors to be fully realized.

CAUTION—The public is cautioned against employing any but the regularly authorized agents of the Company, since their patent covers the use of the Torpedo and all other explosive materials for Oil Wells and the use of such materials by others is a direct infringement of their rights, and we shall hold land or working interests strictly responsible for such infringement. Injunctions have already been granted by the United States District Court for the patents granted by the United States to E. A. L. Roberts against the Reed Torpedo Company, their agents and employees, Jonathan Watson, P. P. Pitcher, Reuben Beach, G. M. Van Vlecar & H. Isbell, and others.
